EMERGENCY AID COALITION

For many EAC clients, finding gratitude while experiencing homelessness can be hard. Yet many share that small moments and human connection still hold meaning alongside real hardship. When facing life's challenges and struggles, one learns the lesson of gratitude and appreciation.

Gratitude does not erase hardship. And recognizing a small blessing does not mean ignoring exhaustion, hunger or instability. But people experiencing poverty often feel gratitude for basic comfort and relief in the form of food, clothing and essential hygiene items provided by the Emergency Aid Coalition. Especially when given with respectful kindness.

The lives of homeless people teach us that the everyday blessings we take for granted—like a home, food, health, family, and friends—are actually priceless.

VOLUNTEER DONATE

First UU Food Drive

Diane, a regular EAC volunteer, delivered a huge donation of non-perishable food to the Emergency Aid Coalition! The First Unitarian Universalist Church of Houston is a member congregation of the EAC and actively supports us through Shared Offering allocations, regular food and clothing drives, and volunteer work.

Presbyterian School

Energetic 3rd Graders from Presbyterian School bagged dried beans and rice into family-sized portions for EAC clients. And they even cleaned up after the job was completed! Presbyterian School integrates hands-on service learning across all grade levels.

PRESBYTERIAN SCHOOL

The 250 Project

The 250 Project collected all kinds of bags for EAC clients - hand bags, purses, backpacks, wallets, reusable bags, suitcases, etc. Founded by three high school students, their mission is to collect at least 250 essential items each drive to be donated to underserved communities. The project is about more than just giving - it's about fostering a culture of compassion.

The Joy School

The Joy School held its annual food and clothing drive for the Emergency Aid Coalition from November 5-18. They collected nonperishable food items, gently used clothing and shoes for Houston individuals and families facing hardship. They bring joy to EAC clients!

The Joy School
Unlocking a Child's Learning Potential

There's still time to catch this amazing performance!

The Choral Scholars Concert to benefit the EAC has been rescheduled to Sunday, November 22nd at 2:00 pm.
